This product is a HIT!

Brazil has given us Carnival, string bikinis and now cashew juice! While the idea of cashew juice might not be as attractive as the other two, it actually has a surprisingly good flavor – and did you know that a cashew nut grows inside a sweet and tasty fruit? This fruit is a rich source of vitamin C and according to this package “may help: calm an upset stomach, soothe a sore throat, protect the skin from problems like acne and eczema and fortify the immune system”. That’s all great, but with 33 grams of sugar from the organic sugar cane juice, the subtle, pear-like flavor of the cashew is overpowered by sweetness. The image on the package also shows a straw, which is somewhat misleading, because there isn’t one. Available in other flavors. Retails for $1.99 / 11 oz.
